Here is my code: def main(): #filepath = str(sys.argv[1]) for root, dirs, files in os.walk(filepath): for name in files: f = open(filepath+'/'+name) fsize = (os.path.getsize(filepath+'/'+name)) #print(fsize) print(fsize, end=' ') f.close() if __name__ == '__main__': main() But when I try to run this code I get the following error: Traceback (most recent call last): File "prg.py", line 17, in main() File "prg.py", line 14, in main fsize = (os.path.getsize(filepath+'/'+name)) IOError: [Errno 2] No such file or directory: 'C:\Users\user\Desktop\Python\TestingTestDrive\testTesting\testTestFile.txt' I tried adding several different commands to try to work out what was causing the error, but it still did not work.
